

Southwest
Autism
Research &
Resource
Center

BEHAVIORAL DETERMINANTS OF HEALTH (BDOH) STUDY

The Southwest Autism Research & Resource Center (SARRC) is enrolling participants in a study to learn more about the behaviors, experiences and daily habits that shape health and well-being for autistic individuals.

You may be eligible to participate in this study if you:

- Are an adult with an autism spectrum disorder (ASD) diagnosis
- Are a parent of an individual with an ASD diagnosis
- Currently live in Arizona

This study involves:

- A brief screening phone call
- Approximately 15 minutes to complete a single online questionnaire about your health and well-being from home

Participants will receive $30 compensation for completing the questionnaire.

To learn more or to enroll, please contact Andrew Wachtel at 480.351.0534 or AWachtel@autismcenter.org

